

BIBLIOGRAPHIC APPENDIX

This appendix includes a listing of some of the most important bibliographic sources for those interested in Leibniz, and two concise bibliographies of recent continental literature on Leibniz, one prepared by Dr. Albert Heinekamp, the other by Professor G. H. R. Parkinson.

I. SOME IMPORTANT BIBLIOGRAPHIC SOURCES

For information on the writings of Leibniz which have been published, see EMILE RAVIER, Bibliographie des oeuvres de Leibniz (Paris: Félix Alcan, 1937). Additions and corrections have been noted by PAUL SCHRECKER in "Une bibliographie de Leibniz," Revue philosophique de la France et de l'étranger 126, No. 11-12 (1938): 324-346. (There is a possibility that Ravier's work, published forty years ago, will be updated by the NIEDERSÄCHSISCHEN LANDESBIBLIOTHEK—see Studia Leibnitiana 1, No. 4 (1969): 293. In any event, publications since 1966 of Leibniz's works are recorded in the Leibniz bibliographies which are printed periodically in Studia Leibnitiana.)

Since many of Leibniz's writings are still unpublished, EDUARD BODEMANN's catalogues of a very important collection of documents are valuable: Der Briefwechsel des Gottfried Wilhelm Leibniz in der Königlichen Öffentlichen Bibliothek zu Hannover (Hildesheim: Olms, 1966); Die Leibniz-Handschriften der Königlichen Öffentlichen Bibliothek zu Hannover (Hildesheim: Olms, 1966).

With regard to the secondary literature on Leibniz, the major source is KURT MÜLLER, Leibniz-Bibliographie: Verzeichnis der Literatur über Leibniz (Frankfurt: Klostermann, 1967). A record of the secondary literature published since 1966 can be found in the very full bibliographies published periodically in the pages of Studia Leibnitiana.

Other bibliographic sources of interest include the following:

CURLEY, EDWIN M. "Recent Work on 17th Century Continental Philosophy," American Philosophical Quarterly 11, No. 4 (1974): 235-255 (see especially 248-251).

This is a selection of books and articles on the philosophy of Leibniz published between 1960 and 1972. Works in foreign languages as well as in English are included. Many of the works by Leibniz which were published during this period are recorded also.

FRANKFURT, HARRY G. "Bibliography," in Leibniz: A Collection of Critical Essays, edited by Frankfurt (Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1972), pp. 421-425.

In this bibliography one finds a selection of original texts, English translations of Leibniz's philosophical works, bibliographic studies, and books and articles in English about Leibniz. In the last category can be found works published between 1916 and 1970 dealing primarily with Leibniz's philosophy.

LOEMKER, LEROY. "Bibliography," in Leibniz: Philosophical Papers and Letters, edited by Loemker, 2nd ed. (Dordrecht: Reidel, 1969), pp. 63-69.

This is a nicely annotated bibliography, which contains sections on bibliography, original texts, English translations, biography, and other secondary literature. The sections on secondary writings cover material on Leibniz's work in science, mathematics, psychology, politics, law, and history, as well as philosophy. French, German, and English works are considered.

LOEMKER, LEROY. "Leibniz in Our Time," Philosophische Rundschau 13, No. 2 (1965): 81-111.

Loemker's learned and wide-ranging bibliographic essay begins with a list of primary and secondary works, in several languages, which appeared between 1942 and 1965.

WELLS, RULON. "Leibniz Today I" and "Leibniz Today II," Review of Metaphysics 10, No. 2 and No. 3 (1956 and 1957): 333-349 and 502-524.

Subtitled "Some Recent Work on Leibniz, 1946-1956," this two part essay does not provide a straightforward listing of works but contains stimulating discussion of important writings from the decade in question, including editions and translations.

II. TWO SELECTED BIBLIOGRAPHIES OF RECENT CONTINENTAL LITERATURE ON LEIBNIZ

Dr. Albert Heinekamp and Professor G. H. R. Parkinson are among the best qualified in the world to prepare bibliographies such as the ones that follow. They graciously agreed to do these bibliographies especially for the present volume. The basic idea was to provide English-speaking students of Leibniz with a short list of the best of the rich and extensive continental work on Leibniz done in the recent past. The hope was that such a list would provide a starting point for those interested in studying this work and might ultimately foster better communication among those working on Leibniz.

It should be noted that the two did not set themselves exactly the same project. With the exception of his last four entries, Heinekamp restricts himself to books of the last decade. He also includes a number of books on topics outside of philosophy. Parkinson chooses works from throughout the twentieth century and limits himself primarily to those on philosophical subjects. (The last two entries on his list are collections of articles on Leibniz.)
